TE 2/C James Cox

"Jim was a great friend and a valued member of the association. He was VP for a while and a work party member for many years. Jim served on the Laffey during the Korean War as Postal Clerk. His rating was Teleman, which back in the day he was a teletype guy.

I remember going on the beach with Jim in Charleston. On our way back to the ship we walked by the large windows that used to be near the ship store. We noticed that Jim was missing..... we turned and looked to see him at attention and saluting the Confederate Flag in the window. We all had a good laugh. Jim lost his wife Lib 5 years ago on Nov 25. Jim is being buried on that day in Greer, SC. He will be welcomed by so many of his shipmates, Jim will be honored at our reunion in the fall of 2021." Sonny Walker

“With Jim painting the Fire Hose Rack and Francis Lasala looking on, it reminded me of some friendly needling that took place that day. Jim was the target of the needling, and he took it well. (Mostly) Having picked the task of perking up the red paintwork on firefighting fixtures, Jim got the paint supplied by PP, which was not the correct shade. He complained about it, but was told to use it anyway. Now, you may not believe it, but we had some guys that played ‘jokes’. Someone decided that everyone who walked by Jim at work would correct him. I don’t know how many times he was told that he was using the wrong color, but Jim eventually lost his cool. The ‘joke’ worked. Luckily, not to fisticuffs. I was working inside the Forward Passageway & Fan Room and heard a commotion. Hearing voices that meant someone was about to ‘Lay Hands On’, I went for a look-see. Jim was sitting on the deck in front of the deckhouse, waving his brush at the offender. Luckily, it was a well organized ‘joke’. A few onlookers could not contain their glee. Jim recognized his entrapment and cooled down. Laughs and smiles all around. It had to be explained to some visitors (Tourists) that it was ‘friendly needling’. I don’t know if Jim ‘got even’, but I know that it didn’t adversely affect our Work Party. Other pictures show Jim and Ari painting to the bow in the Bos’n Locker. (Hot & Tight.) Remembering, reminiscing,” Ray Broll

Aristides Phoutrides Remembrances Obituary Aristides Stephanos Phoutrides Aug. 9, 1925 - June 7, 2018. Aristides Stephanos Phoutrides succinctly and accurately, described himself as "an imperfect man who loved his entire family, his church, his country, his ship and shipmates, and cherished his friends."

Aristides was born in Seattle Aug. 9, 1925. He was the youngest child of Reverend Stephanos and Presbyteria Calliope Phoutrides. His father was a priest at St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church and, later, at the Church of the Assumption in Seattle. At 16, Aristides graduated from Broadway High School in Seattle and was admitted to Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

World War II intervened, and at 17, he entered the U.S. Navy. His combat experiences on the USS Laffey—both at Utah Beach and Okinawa—were formative. During the battle of Okinawa, the Laffey withstood the most unrelenting kamikaze air attacks in history and earned the nickname "The Ship that Would Not Die." He knew first-hand the sacrifices others had made to enable his safe return from the war.

After the war, he resumed his studies at University of Washington graduating with a degree in Chemical Engineering. On Aug. 27, 1949, he married Betty Demas of Portland. Their family includes three children, Stephen and his wife Kathy, Elaine and her husband Dana, Cynthia and her spouse Paula; six grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Aristides had a long and rich retirement fueled by boundless energy. Dedicated to his church and his ship, he volunteered for many years in service to the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Portland. He was a proud, past-president of the USS Laffey Association and a regular volunteer at Patriots Point in South Carolina where the Laffey—now a National Historic Landmark—is preserved as a museum ship. With the keen and exacting mind of an engineer, he embraced computer technology; became an avid, meticulous gardener and traveled extensively across the world.

As Pappou, he was beloved by his family and his many friends. They, in turn, were embraced by his love, buoyed by his unwavering support and graced by his generosity of spirit. He died peacefully at his home, surrounded by family June 7, 2018.

A funeral will be held at 11 a.m., Tuesday, June 12, 2018, at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church, 3131 N.E. Glisan St. Please sign the online guest book at www.oregonlive.com/obits

Admiral Frederic Julian Becton Wikipedia Article
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Frederick_Becton

New York Times Obituary Adm. F. Julian Becton, who was at the center of a dramatic two hours of naval history when his destroyer survived a swarm of Japanese kamikaze planes off Okinawa in 1945, died on Monday at his home in Wynnewood, Pa. He was 87.

The 2,200-ton U.S.S. Laffey, guns blazing, battled an onslaught by 22 suicide planes, 6 of which struck the ship. Two bombs also hit the ship; one jammed the rudder of the Laffey, whose deck was a mass of flame.

The Laffey's crew shot down eight or nine of the planes, but it paid a high price: 31 crewmen were killed or unaccounted for, and 60 were wounded. Admiral Becton, then a commander, escaped injury. His deft maneuvering and the skill of his engineers were credited with bringing the Laffey, riddled like a sieve above the waterline, back to Seattle for repairs. He received the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism. It was not his first close call. He was in command of the destroyer Aaron Ward when she was part of an Allied convoy that was attacked off Guadalcanal in April 1943. The Aaron Ward and two other vessels were sunk, but the enemy lost 39 planes. Admiral Becton was also decorated for the Laffey's support role in the invasion of Normandy and other wartime action. He received four Silver Stars, two commendation ribbons, two Presidential Unit Citations and the Croix de Guerre.

Frederick Julian Becton was born in Des Arc, Ark., and graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1931. He served on battleships and destroyers, rising to the post of executive officer before being put in command of the Aaron Ward. He retired in 1966 and told the story of the Laffey and her crew in a book, "The Ship That Would Not Die" (Prentice-Hall, 1980).

Admiral Becton is survived by his wife of 46 years, Elizabeth Reuss Becton; two daughters, Julie B. Becton of Wynnewood and Hilary B. Wagner of Warrington, Pa.; a brother, John, of Hot Springs, Ark., and two grandsons.

He was born in Belle Plaine, Iowa on March 24, 1919 to Valentine and Challen McCune, Sr. He was preceded in death by his parents, his sister, Sybil Henry, and nephew, Phillip Henry. He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Marie; daughters, Chris (Sam) Matsen and Laura (Mark) McKagan; grandchildren, Dean (Hannah) and Greg Matsen, Sean and Scott McKagan; great grandchildren, Alan and Kara Matsen, Jackson McKagan; and nephew, Rick Henry. Challen graduated from Belle Plaine High School in 1937. After attending the University of Iowa for 2 years, he enrolled in the Navy's V-7 course at North Western University and was commissioned an ensign. He married Dorothy on May 29, 1941 in Honolulu, Hawaii. After a brief honeymoon, Dorothy returned to the States and Challen was deployed to serve his country. Challen served on a number of ships during WWII, including the USS Wyoming, USS Detroit, and USS Owen. In 1943, he was promoted to Lieutenant. He served on the destroyer USS Laffey in 1945. As an executive officer on the Laffey, he survived the famous battle off of Okinawa on April 16, 1945, where his ship took many hits from Japanese kamikaze fighter planes, causing many casualties and damaging the ship. In July of 1945, Challen was honorably discharged and returned to the states to be with his family. Challen's passions were Dorothy, his family, golf, traveling, and the many friendships he developed over the years. He was a member of the Sand Point Country Club in Seattle for 40 years. He played several times a week and earned himself a few hole-in-ones during his golfing days. He played many courses and toted his clubs with him on his many travels, just in case he spotted a golf course. Challen was a furniture representative and worked for the Sealy Mattress Company for over 20 years. He was awarded Salesman Of The Year and made many good friends at the stores where he "peddled" his mattresses. He also was a Shriner, having been a member for over 50 years. He liked to play the piano, listen to music, play bridge, and take walks with Dorothy. He and Dorothy traveled to Europe, Asia, Mexico, The Caribbean, Australia, and other parts of the world. They also took trips in Washington State and saw a lot of North America. For the past 20 years they spent their winters in Hawaii and Arizona, where they had a little place in Peoria. Challen, also known as "Bub", was a fun loving man with a keen sense of humor and a contagious smile. Known to his wife as "Bubby", his grandchildren and great grandchildren as "Bucka" and to his friends as "Mac", Challen will be sorely missed, but never forgotten. His legacy will live on for generations to come from the many fond memories he leaves with all of us who were fortunate enough to know him. Published in The Seattle Times on June 11, 2006

Jay Bahme Jay Bahme, 93, of Houston, Texas, died peacefully in his sleep on November 10, 2014 with his wife of almost 57 years, Florence Bahme (nee Kaplan), by his side. Mr. Bahme was born in Waco, Texas, in 1921, the 5th of six children of Samuel and Jennie Bahme (nee Brickman). He worked his way through Baylor University and, upon graduating in 1943 with a degree in accounting, immediately enlisted in the United States Navy. A member of "The Greatest Generation," he served as a communications officer during World War II, on a destroyer, the USS Laffey, which earned the nickname

"The Ship That Would Not Die" after successfully withstanding a sustained assault by kamikaze bombers during the Battle of Okinawa. He was awarded the Purple Heart Medal for the wounds he sustained during this battle.

After his honorable discharge from the U.S. Navy, he settled in Houston and started a small accounting firm. Over the years, his firm and reputation grew, eventually leading to a successful merger with the nationally-recognized accounting firm of Seidman and Seidman (a precursor to the international firm of BDO Seidman). He rose to become Managing Partner of Seidman's Houston office and then served as Regional Managing Partner, ultimately becoming a member of the firm's Executive Committee and leading its national mergers and acquisitions group.

He loved his work as a Certified Public Accountant, but thrilled for a challenging game of tennis or a spin in his fire-engine red 1983 Datsun 280Z. Nothing, however, matched his devotion to his wife, children and grandchildren. In addition to his wife, he is survived by his daughters Karen Mantel, Susan Blumenfeld (Glenn) and Jennifer Bahme (Alberto Alvarez), seven grandchildren, and numerous nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his five siblings and son-in-law, Marshall Mantel.

President Kirhagis was first notified by retired BMC Robert Skirbe of Maine. Both Earl & Robert served on the Laffey when it when into a reserve status as BM1 & 2, and they bonded in a close friendship. Skirbe went on to say that they were trading off escalation of ranks back and forth. and were transferred to the next same assignment shortly after each promotion. One would be the subordinate, then the other one would be. If the story is correct, they both ended up retiring from the Navy as BM1's.

The internment included a Navy Chaplain who conducted the Eulogy, 8 Navy pall bearers in dress blues, and seven color guards in dress blues who gave the 21 gun salute, followed by a Navy bugler.

Sonny Walker Remembrance: SHSN. Joe and I became friends years ago at our reunion in Las Vegas. It was almost immediate. Joe had the distinction of being As time goes on, the shipmates that we honor are friends of ours. Some aboard the decommissioning crew in 1947 and on the recommissioning crew in 1950 when he was recalled for the Korean War.

Joe was a man for all seasons. He was an author, restaurateur, barber, movie star and many we can't even talk about. He had so many stories we could spend all morning ... make that all day, talking about him.

He was full of life and fun to be around. Joe told me a sea story about Korea. GQ sounded, he was in the shower, he tried to get back to his compartment but everyone was rushing up the ladder. He had to get to his GQ station on the bridge. He wrapped the towel around himself and took off for the bridge. He arrived in a towel and shower shoes, he put on his helmet and sound powered phones around his neck. The Captain walked over to him and said "Folino, aren't you out of uniform?" Joe, always ready with an excuse said, "YESSIR, BUT SKY ONE IS MANNED AND READY!!!" The captain laughed and told him to get his butt below and get some clothes on and get back up here.

Joe was in two Elvis movies, wrote three books, was in an ultralite plane crash, heck he even worked for the Mafia in Pittsburgh and married the boss's daughter. Not Dinah.... She came later and straightened him out. I really must say that he lived an exciting life. Joe held many offices in our association. He was the newsletter editor too. He was always there to answer a question about the association or the ship.

After his stroke he wasn't able to talk for quite a while. I would call on the phone and he would get excited and you couldn't understand him. Of course I would tease him and ask him what language he was speaking this time. He would giggle. It was just a fun relationship that I will always hold dear.

Sonny Walker: SOG3 was a sonarman aboard the ship during my only MED Cruise in 1961. I didn't know him very well. He came to a work party last year. It was good to see and talk with him. We didn't know that he was fighting illness. We were surprised to hear that he passed away not long after visiting his ship for the last time.

Robert E. Weaver GM1 was onboard from 1956-62. He seemed to pop up in every cruise book. Each year he had another stripe. He retired a CWO3. Bob and his friend Robbie Robinson GMC came aboard the ship while we had a work party going on years ago. It was good to see both of them. Bob was a good old boy from southern Virginia. Lee Ford Sonny Walker Comments What can we say about Lee? He worked here at Patriots Point. He was in charge of taking care of Laffey. Whenever we needed something Lee would come up with it. He loved this ship. He actually had a framed picture of the ship hanging over his mantle in his living room. He was a great friend. We all miss him.

Chief Wendell Calloway Sonny Walker Remembrance Wendell was on the USS RICH and the USS Clamagore. He came to our work parties to cook a pig with Hoot Gibson. He loved our ship and was a good worker at the RICH Work Parties. He too will be missed for his funny e-mails and stories.

Sonny Walker Remembrances : What can I say about my favorite captain?

Captain Tazewell graduated from the US Naval Academy in June 1942. As an Ens. he served as Torpedo Officer on USS O'Bannon DD450. He was behind the first Laffey when she was sunk at Guadalcanal. While at lunch a few years ago, he told me that he had a friend on the Laffey that was sunk. They knew they were sunk by a Torpedo. He saw John later and asked him, as torpedo officer, did you put a fish into us? The captain assured him that he did not hit the Laffey.

Tazewell spent most of WWII on Battleships. USS Alabama, USS West Virginia and after the war he was Fire Control Officer and Assistant Gunnery Officer on the USS Wisconsin. He attended MIT where he received a Master of Science Degree. Some shore duty followed and then back to sea. He was Exec of the D.H. Fox DD-779. He then served on the USS Boston CAG-1 as Weapons Officer. In 1957 he was ashore again. Bureau of Ordnance as the TARTAR Guided Missile Project Officer.

In June of 1960 he became the skipper of the USS Laffey which, according to him, was the high spot of his career.

Harhager, Watson and I came aboard the same day in October of 1960. We were honored to serve under our new captain.

There are many stories about Captain Tazewell and his crew. He restricted John Hudak on the way back from the MED in 61. The restriction ran from the time we left Naples until we arrived in Norfolk. If John wanted to leave the ship he would have to swim. I was late coming back from a weekend liberty once and had to go to Mast. I had a great excuse. "Captain, I was so sleepy that I had to pull over and sleep to keep from getting killed or killing someone else." Captain Tazewell said "That is very commendable Walker but did you ever think about leaving earlier?" That was the captain. He still gave me extra duty.

At lunch once I asked him what it was like to take your own ship out for the first time. He told me that he was unsure of himself the first time so he just said "Mr Ross, take her out!" and he watched everything Exec LCDR Ross did.

We threw him a party in Va Beach a few years back. We had 19 of the old crew show up from all over the country. It was a great party.

We told him that he had turned boys into men. I mentioned that most of the enlisted guys had been in front of him for some infraction or another. The captain just smiled and said "They make the best sailors!".

It was a very moving evening for all involved.

That was our captain. He was more like our Dad.

Sonny Walker Remembrance: QM2. I'm sorry to take so long but these last two are probably more dear to me than most of my family. Not counting my wife, kids and grandkids. As I said, Dave and I came aboard the same day. He went to the deck Division for a while and later to operations as a QM striker. We actually didn't hang out with each other until the end of the MED Cruise in 1961. We were in The Bluebird Club in Naples, the last day of our cruise. We were leaving for the US the next morning. The liberty boat came for Laffey and the table emptied except for Dave and me. We knew there was another boat yet that night. Everyone had ordered a bunch of drinks and left them, untouched, on the table. We couldn't leave all of those drinks.....
When we came home we started to hang out along with Jimmy Watanuki QM3. Jimmy and I were going to Madison College to see Cherie. We were driving out the gate and found out we only had a few bucks for the weekend. I said "Do you know anyone with money to go with us?" He said Dave had 15 bucks. We turned the car around and asked Dave if he wanted to go to a girls' college for the weekend. I never saw anyone get showered and changed so fast. That was the beginning of a life-long friendship. Cherie fixed Dave up with a schoolmate... Judy Wampler. Must have been a good match, it lasted a lifetime.

While we were in the yards Dave and I decided to go see the girls who were home in Baltimore. We had a 48 hour liberty that started on Saturday morning. We left on Wednesday. Barry Shugarts answered up for us at quarters and made our excuses for not being at quarters. Well, we thought we were smart but not as smart as our Division Officer who was a mustang LT. D.C. Robison. He gave us 40 hours extra duty in the bilges. 4 hours per night. The snipes were so happy to see those clean dungarees come down that ladder. They immediately put us under the evaporator tanks chipping paint. What a job.

We were in each other's weddings. We were there for each other whenever needed. When the job market got bad in Western PA, Dave came to Baltimore to work. He lived at our house for a year until he bought a house and moved his family to Maryland.

The years went by and we didn't see each other that often but were still there if needed.

We got a call one morning about 0400 that their son was in a terrible accident. Cher and I rushed to Shock Trauma. We were there first. It was a long morning. Eddie had broken his neck and was paralyzed from the chest down.

Years went by, they lived in Baltimore, then back to PA and finally in Florida in the winter and Western MD in the summer. Things were good.

A couple of years ago Dave was diagnosed with Cancer. He fought it like crazy. He used every experimental drug that the doctor recommended. It worked for a long time. Dave continued to come to the work parties. He was amazing. Finally, it wouldn't work any longer. We knew it was over when he sold the house in Florida and moved back to Western Maryland for good.

He couldn't fly home because he was too sick. Judy Trout bought a brand new 35' RV and volunteered John Hudak and her to drive them up to Western Maryland from Florida. While there, John built a ramp to allow Dave to use a wheel chair in and out of the house. Judy helped Judy Harhager get the house set up for them. We can't thank Judy and John enough for all that they did for the Harhagers.

Cher and I drove up a couple of weeks later. It was the hardest visit that we have ever had. We laughed it up in the bedroom with Dave. Cher and Judy walked into the other room when we were getting ready to leave. Dave and I talked quietly together for a long while. We had a few giggles as only Dave could. I looked him in the eye and asked "Davey, do you remember how we got back to the ship when we left the Bluebird Club?" We both busted out laughing and he said "NO!". We laughed again. It was good. I told him "It's been a good ride eh brother?" He looked at me, smiled and said "Yep". I kissed him on the bald head and we laughed. That was our last visit. My friend of 56 years died a few days later.

Oliver J. Sprigs Sonny Walker Remembrance Jim was a great member of the association. Jim was our membership chairman for many, many years. He only gave it up when his memory started failing him. Jim was always ready to tell stories to whoever would listen. His stories were interesting to listen to. Many didn't know that Jim was reported missing after the Okinawa battle. His folks received the telegram that he was missing and then found out that he was just missed in the counting. It was a real shock to his folks when he turned up all fine and dandy. Jim was always there to welcome someone new to the association. We will miss him.

Jim's shipmate Bob Powell died the very same day that Jim passed. I will always remember Bob as one of our WWII vets to win the ship model. It was very moving to announce his name and watch him walk across the floor at Omar's to acknowledge his win. Bob was a really cool guy. A big loss to us.

Lee Hunt SN died that same week as his two shipmates Jim and Bob. What can we say about Lee? He always showed up when we were at the work parties. He couldn't work, not that we would let him, and always had that smile on his face. When they opened up the video in MT53 Lee was invited to the first showing. As luck would have it, we were there for a work party. I stood next to Lee and kept an eye on him during the playing of the video. He stared straight at the screen. Once I saw him take off his glasses and wipe his eyes. When it was over I asked him what he thought. He very quietly said "That's as real as it gets". Lee was in that mount during the battle and he lost 6 of his buddies there. When asked by Mac Burdette if he wanted to watch it again Lee said "No thank you". We will miss his visits to the work party guys.

Earl Madison Sonny Walker Remembrance served aboard 63-67. He was a shipmate of mine, although he was a Snipe he was a GOOD OL BOY. His buddies called him Good Old Earl. He was young to go as quickly as he did.

Ralph Doll. Sonny Walker Remembrance Master Chief Boatswain Mate. Chief Doll knew a lot of Laffey guys as he served with the Korean guys and also the crew from the early 60's. He was the consummate sailor. He took pride in his ship and the boys that kept her that way. I never saw him upset or mad at anything. He always smiled. When he had the quarter deck you could get back aboard if you had too many to drink too. When I saw him at Chief Walker's funeral it was the first time I had seen him since 1963. He had grown a beard that was like the Amish. Ralph was a short guy and I told him he looked like a Smurf. When we gave Captain Tazewell a surprise party in VA Beach, I called Ralph and asked him if e could pipe the captain aboard at the restaurant. He was 80 at the time. He told me that "If I can get enough air, I'll do'er", And he did a great job. He was a real sailor.

Mel Gerhold Sonny Walker Remembrance was a real cowboy from Wyoming with his hat and boots and belt buckle and all. Until he opened his mouth and out came his Bawlmer accent. You couldn't fool me about a Bawlmer accent. Mel moved out west and became a very famous western artist. His paintings are hanging in the cowboy museum out there in Wyoming.

Lon Caulk Obituary On June 7, 2015 Daniel O. Caulk; beloved husband of the late Helen L. Caulk (nee Kreh); loving father of Brian P. Caulk and his wife Carol, D. Kevin Caulk and his former wife Melinda, David M. Caulk and his wife Melanie, Bruce A. Caulk and his wife Catherine; cherished grandfather of 9 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren. A funeral service will be held at the family owned Leonard J. Ruck Inc. Funeral Home 5305 Harford Road (at Echodale) on Friday at 10 AM. Interment Gardens of Faith Memorial Park. Friends may visit on Thursday 3-5 & 7-9 PM.

www.RuckFuneralHomes.Com. Sonny Walker Remembrance Lon was a Jarhead that came to many work parties. He was a good friend of Bill Lloyd (who passed away a few years ago) and Mel Gerhold. We always teased Lon about being a Jarhead but he loved the Laffey. Lon was in the Marines during the Korean War. Chris Kirhagis Remembrance Lon Caulk was a Major of the Baltimore Police Department, and he was the Commanding Officer of The Southeastern District where I worked as a patrolman. He came to work parties.

Woody Gedusky Sonny Walker Remembrance loved coming to the work parties. He loved welding and was there when we started to refurbish the after engine room. He loved working with Hudak and Bob Hill making the new handrails. His knees gave out and he couldn't work any longer and couldn't be there for the grand opening in 2004. John said he was always sorry that Woodeye couldn't make the trip to see the end result of his labors.

Tom Sprowl Sonny Walker Remembrance We will miss our favorite Bubblehead, our contact man at Patriots Point. Tom was always helpful to us as we conducted our work parties. Tom came down with MS and succumbed in July. We miss Tom if for no other reason than to make fun of him as we always did...to his face. He was a good sport.

Bert Remsen (1925 - 1999) From Wikipedia https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bert_Remsen "Seaman 1/c Herbert B. Remsen was a crew member on the destroyer USS Laffey during the Battle of Okinawa in World War II. On April 16, 1945, the USS Laffey was attacked by 22 Japanese kamikaze planes during an 80-minute period. Remsen suffered burns during the battle but was able to return to duty and survive what the US Navy called, "one of the great sea epics of war"."

Obituary In a gallery of supporting performances that ranged from tough members of the military through mild family men to a transvestite named Helen, perhaps best remembered will be Bert Remsen's portrayal of the genial and extrovert bank-robber T-Dub, always in a state of gleeful zest for life in Robert Altman's Thieves Like Us. Altman frequently used Remsen in his films and helped him re-establish an acting career after an accident on a television sound-stage in 1964 left him needing crutches or a walking stick for the rest of his life.

Born in Glen Cove, New York, in 1925, Remsen served in the US Navy during the Second World War and earned a Purple Heart for heroism displayed in the action on Okinawa. Returning to studies after the war, he received a drama degree at Ithaca College in New York and studied acting with Sandy Meisner at the Neighborhood Playhouse.

He made his screen debut as a lieutenant in Lewis Milestone's powerful story of a true incident in the Korean War, Pork Chop Hill (1959), and was enjoying an active career on stage, television and film when in August 1964 an 84ft crane toppled on a television stage where Remsen was filming an episode of the comedy series No Time for Sergeants.

Struck by part of the crane, Remsen suffered a broken back and multiple fractures to his left leg. Months of surgery and repeated periods in hospital followed, during which he decided to alter his career and become a casting director. The hit series The FBI was cast by him, along with several others, but Carl Reiner and other friends kept finding roles for an actor on crutches. He was casting Brewster McCLOUD (1970) for Altman when the director realised that Remsen himself would be perfect for the role of a psychotic cop, at which point he decided to return to acting full-time.

Remsen was in many television movies, and had regular roles in several series - he was the editor of a small-town newspaper in Gibbsville (1976), played "Dandy" Dandridge in the 1987 season of Dallas, and Sonny Skylar in Melrose Place.

Married for 40 years to Barbara Dodd and the father of two children, Remsen, having sustained his career despite frequent pain and the need of walking aids, was a generous supporter of causes for the physically handicapped and in 1985 was awarded the "Billie Award" at the Abilities Exposition in Los Angeles. Died San Fernando Valley, California 22 April 1999.

Captain Thomas Randolph Cotten, Jr. died on March 12, 2009 in Virginia Beach, Virginia. He was born in Charleston, S.C. in 1927 as the eldest child of Thomas R. Cotten, Sr. and Mary O'Brien Cotten. He leaves a wife of 54 years - Martha Lanier Reeves Cotten, two sons - Thomas Randolph Cotten, III and wife Sharon of Winston Salem, NC and Peter Tabb Cotten of Mount Pleasant, two sisters - Mary Ann Nelson and Martha Johnson both of Charleston and six grandchildren - Thomas Randolph Cotten IV and Lindsay Myers Cotten of Winston Salem - Strock Reeves Cotten and Matthew Sully Cotten of Bremerton, WA. - Chancelor Sox Cotten and Huntington Nandalyn Cotten of Lexington, S.C. He was predeceased by a brother, Joseph Walter Cotten. Captain Cotten graduated from St. Andrews High School and attended Clemson University. He graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1952 and was assigned as Gunnery Officer on the USS Shannon. He spent two years on the USS Los Angeles before becoming Flag Secretary for Cruiser Division Five. Following that tour he joined the faculty of the U.S. Naval Academy and later became Commanding Officer of the USS Nespelen, USS

Earle B. Hall, USS Kirwin and USS Laffey. He served in Vietnam and later joined the faculty of the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, R.I. Captain Cotten was awarded The Legion of Merit, a Bronze Star, WorldWar II Victory Ribbon, Vietnam Service Metal, and Combat Action Ribbon. He retired from the U.S. Navy in 1978 and worked for Delex Systems in Washington D.C. and Norden Systems in Virginia Beach. A memorial service will be held on Saturday March 14, 2009 in Virginia Beach followed by burial at sea. Memorials may be made to the U.S. Naval Academy Foundation - 291 Wood Road, Beach Hall, Annapolis. Md. 21402.

Gunners Mate 1/c Frank Lehtonen with wife Florence

1921 – 1945 From Ann Cherry Niece of Frank and Florence Lehtonen “My Aunt Florence Ryan was a Chicago beauty who became penpals with Frank (who was from Baltimore) via a friend of hers who met him on a Chicago streetcar & thought they'd be perfect together. They corresponded, fell in love and married when he next visited Chicago. She was living back with my grandmother and the other siblings in February 1945 when she became sick (she'd had rheumatic fever as a child); she quickly grew worse and unbelievably died on February 8, 1945 at the age of 24. The family notified the war department, but there was a delay in getting the news of her passing to Frank because he normally wrote her 2-3 times a day and we had a big box of unopened letters he'd mailed in the interim. My aunts remember receiving one letter from him before his death where he said "all the breath had left his body." How difficult it must have been for him to mourn for his beautiful young bride. No place or space for him to grieve in private on a boat in the middle of the Pacific, in the middle of a war. Then Frank is killed just weeks later. The telegram of his death was delivered to the Ryans.” Frank was the 20mm Gun Captain on the Laffey fantail. He was killed by a Japanese plane crashing onto the Laffey fantail on 16 April 1945.

TAPS

We are sorry to report the loss of two more shipmates. James A. Parolini, Lt.Cdr. USN (ret) at age 66, living at Barrington, RI, passed away the first week in May, possibly while we were aboard the Laffey painting. Ironic!! During his 30-year naval career, he received a Purple Heart and a Silver Star. He served aboard the USS Laffey approximately one year and participated in the "D" Day invasion of Europe. He left his wife, Harriet, 3 sons and 8 daughters. I understand he and Harvey Shaw married sisters and both had large families. Mrs. James H. Hudgens of Louise, Miss., notified me that Jim had passed away on December 28, 1981. He would have enjoyed attending our reunions, but due to ill health was never able to.

Regretfully I must tell you that we have lost two more of our former shipmates. Reginald Langevin died October 11, 1980. We are thankful he was able to join us at New Orleans and that Bill Muskivitch who lived nearby was able to serve as our representative at the funeral. We sent flowers from all of us in the name of the Laffey Association. Morris Miller died suddenly in his sleep on December 10, 1980. He requested that his ashes be scattered at sea and his wife honored his request. Mary Ellen is now living at 2425 W. Seldon Lane, Phoenix, Ariz. 85021 and her phone number is 602/995/5450. They were living in Sumner, Washington, at the time of his death.

GET WELL -- We now have a very "elite" group in our midst--survivors of open-heart surgery and the list is growing. Doc Darnell had a five by-pass operation last year after the reunion; Joe Edmonds about the same time; Pierce Doyle several years ago; Carl Hardway was in intensive care while we were at New Orleans. (I haven't heard how he is doing. I tried to call several times, but they have an unlisted number.) Joe Cain's wife was ailing last year. I talked to Joe recently and he assured me that she is fine. We were fortunate to have Dave Warner available at the reunion to fill in for Rev. Joe. I guess you could say we are twice blessed. (No pun intended.) Jack Ballenger was having trouble with blood clots in his legs and a bad hip. Al Csiszar had a heart attack after the reunion, and we're glad to hear he is back to work full-time due to lots of TLC from Debbie and his doctor. Reggie Langevin had a heart attack before the reunion, and we were happy that he was well enough to join us at New Orleans. Lee Ring has been hospitalized off and on--haven't heard how he is doing. Tom Youchunas and his wife (San Bernardino) are both ailing. Donald Vorgity (post war) also is back to work after a coronary. We hope everyone is feeling well and on the road to full recovery.

A bit of sad news -- and I'm sorry to have to tell you about it. I received a call on February 14th from Wayne Haley's daughter informing me that Wayne had died unexpectedly in New York City. He was buried at the National Cemetery, Calverton, NY. I was able to visit the funeral home and meet with his family, but was unable to attend the funeral because of previous commitments at work. I did arrange for flowers in the name of our Association. Mrs. Haley requested that any money we might spend in Wayne's name be placed in our Laffey Enshrinement Fund.

Service Members on USS Laffey DD724 Who Died April 16, 1945

" White water no longer curls back from our Laffey's high proud bow. There are no men at her throttles or on her bridge, and her guns no longer speak. But she is alive with shades and memories of the brave deeds and the brave Americans who did them. They are still with her and will be always. It is my hope that those who visit her, most especially the young, will come to know and perhaps be inspired by them.
